

Section 1.2 HW Guide

1: Know the definitions of an observational study and a designed experiment.

2-5: Identify a scenario as an observational study or as a designed experiment.

6: This problem ties it all together. You need to know the different types of observational studies as well as how to identify the response variable and the explanatory variable in a study.